

Flood Waters Drop Slowly West Of Kansas City

Costliest Flood Still Paralyzes Twin-City Area

Kansas City, Mo., (AP)—The costliest flood in the nation's history gushed for 400 miles along the Kansas and Missouri rivers last night, strangling this great gateway city to the southwest for the fourth straight day.

To the west of this metropolitan area of 900,000 the Kansas river was receding slowly but brought only hope to thousands who have been driven from their homes. The murky waters still ran through the homes of scores of cities and towns, some with light and power and water plants paralyzed.

To the east for more than 200 miles, the Missouri river—known as the Big Muddy—was beginning to push its way into cities and towns between here and St. Louis.

U. S. Orders Ouster Of Hungarians

Washington (AP)—Two Hungarian diplomats, including the acting chief of the Communist country's legation, were ordered out of the United States yesterday. It was a tit-for-tat response to expulsion of two U. S. officials from Budapest.

The formal notification to Hungary said only that the two—Lajos Nagy, second secretary and charge d'affaires, and Peter Varkonyi, attache—were "no longer agreeable" to this government. There was no detail on what makes them disagreeable but a State department spokesman suggested that a reporter wouldn't miss badly if he drew his own conclusions about retaliation.

Such a notification that a member of a government mission is "persona non grata" leaves his home country no option except to withdraw him. That was the device Hungary used to get rid of Albert W. Sherer Jr., second secretary of the American legation in Budapest, and Miss Ruth Tryon, head of the U. S. Information services there, a little over a week ago.

The United States had turned down a Hungarian request to bring Sherer and Miss Tryon home after prosecution witnesses had sought to implicate them in the trial of Catholic Archbishop Groesz, convicted of working against the Hungarian Red regime. The charges were denied by the American government and the individuals with the counter-accusation that the whole thing was a propaganda move against the Western democracies.

Sherman Plans Defense Talks With Spain

Washington (AP)—Adm. Forrest Sherman, Joint Chiefs of Staff member, left yesterday for a series of talks with American officials and those of Western European nations—including Spain.

It was the first time a member of the American Military High command had headed for talks with officials of Spain, a nation outside the North Atlantic Treaty organization (NATO) but which holds a vitally strategic position in the Western European defense picture.

A Navy announcement, made after Sherman had taken off from National airport here, said he was going to Europe to confer with Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, supreme commander of Western European defense forces, U. S. naval commanders in Europe and the Mediterranean areas.

Sherman, said the Navy, "also will visit a number of European countries, including England, Italy and Spain, in each of which he hopes to have an exchange of views with American representatives and with foreign officials on questions of mutual interest between the United States and the country concerned."

This was the second trip the chief of naval operations has made to Europe since the beginning of the year.

Rokossovsky Is Reported Shot

Frankfurt, Germany (AP)—Western diplomats in Warsaw are mystified by the apparent disappearance of Marshal Konstantin Rokossovsky, be-medalled hero of the Soviet Union and Polish defense minister.

It was confirmed here yesterday that rumors of an attempt on Rokossovsky's life are circulating in Poland, and that western envoys, without passing judgment on the rumors, have reported them to their governments.

No concrete evidence has yet been uncovered by diplomatic missions in Warsaw proving or disproving the rumors of an assassination attempt. The one established fact is that the tall, former Czarist officer has not been seen by westerners in the Polish capital for several weeks.

A Copenhagen newspaper said a Polish major shot Rokossovsky twice and then committed suicide.

Truce Talks Resume At Kaesong

Club Dedicates Camp For Underprivileged; Senator Martin Assails Truman Tax Program

Bartonville—Sen. Edward Martin (R-Pa) said yesterday that President Truman's budget will lead the nation into bankruptcy and loss of freedom. Martin spoke at dedication of the Golden Slipper Square Club camp for underprivileged in this Pocono Mountain region.

Sen. Montgomery F. Crowe (R-Monroe) said the camp represented an outstanding example of service to humanity without regard to race or creed during a period when the principal aim seems to be "self-service and selfishness."

Martin said the government's tax program will lead Americans on "the road to national bankruptcy and the loss of all freedom."

"It would centralize in Washington all power and authority and would destroy the sacred right of self-government."

"It would place such a heavy burden of taxation upon every individual that it would destroy all incentive."

Martin said the government's tax years ago the total cost of operating the Federal government was less than $4,000,000,000 a year, but the new budget calls for the expenditure of $71,500,000,000, and is expected to reach $80,000,000,000 next year.

"In these days of crisis," Martin continued, "when the world is threatened by Communist aggression, we must not curtail or halt defense preparations. But every other proposed expenditure not related to the safety and security of our country must be held down to the barest necessities. This is no time for fancy frills in government."

Martin was the principle speaker at the dedication ceremony. Dr. Kurt Peiser, vice-president of the University of Pennsylvania, was chairman of the affair. Peiser is the former executive head of the Federation of Jewish Charities, and the Allied Jewish Appeal of Philadelphia.

"Here, in this beautiful region of Pennsylvania, you have created an outstanding example of devotion to human welfare," Martin asserted.

"You have built a living symbol of the spirit of our Republic—the spirit of helpfulness, good will and tolerance."

"In providing this camp, and through its many other benevolent activities, the Golden Slipper Square Club has gained an honored place among those we are proud to call benefactors of humanity," the U. S. Senator said.

"It has been the good fortune of the United States that many individuals and families who have accumulated wealth, have contributed so generously to advance the public welfare."

"Great foundations have been established for scientific and medical research, for the support of schools and colleges, for art and

Anti-American Rally In Iran Costs 10 Lives

Tehran, Iran (AP)—Anti-Communists attacked Reds demonstrating in an anti-American rally last night in front of the Iranian parliament building. At least 10 persons were killed and more than 100 injured in the riot, which was finally broken up by Army tanks and tear gas.

Ten thousand Communist "peace partisans" touched off the dusk riot with a demonstration against the arrival earlier yesterday of U. S. Ambassador W. Averell Harriman, diplomatic trouble shooter for President Truman. Harriman, here as the result of an offer by Mr. Truman to Premier Mohammed Mossadegh, is confident friendly talks can settle the oil dispute between Iran and Britain.

Red sources said five of their number were killed. Others known dead were two policemen and three civilians.

As the Reds marched into parliament square, tight columns of anti-Communists—supporters of Mossadegh's national front government—attacked from side streets. Stones flew, clubs whacked, and finally there were scattered pistol shots on both sides.

Police and troops stationed at strategic spots moved in with tear gas, firing shots into the air. More than half a dozen tanks were summoned from Army headquarters, where they had been stationed in the event of trouble.

Tanks were stationed at a street corner near the American and British embassies, which are half a mile from parliament square. A small crowd of Red demonstrators gathered outside the iron fence of the U. S. embassy shouting: "Down with imperialism!" They were quickly dispersed.

The rest of the city remained quiet.

Constable's Car Chases Violator, Lands In Creek

South Sterling — A Pike county constable demolished his car yesterday at 4 a. m. after veering off a curve on Route 90 in South Sterling.

Meldon Ostrum, a resident of Panther and constable of Greene township, received cuts and bruises and was treated at the scene of the accident by Dr. Frank Uriel, of Newfoundland. Constable Ostrum was then taken to the State hospital in Scranton by the Russell Frey ambulance. He is reported to be in good condition and is expected to return to his home in a few days.

Conferees Return After Reds Agree To Neutral Zone

Munsan, Korea, Monday, (AP)—The Allied cease-fire team flew to Kaesong today by helicopter through overcast skies for the fourth session of talks seeking a basis for ending the Korean war.

The five man delegation began departing in five helicopters at 9:33 a. m. (7:33 p. m. EDT Sunday) for the 10 a. m. meeting with the Reds—hopeful that yesterday's harmonious tone would be maintained.

Rain let up just before the 'copter rotor blades began whirling.

The delegation was preceded to Kaesong by an Allied motor convoy which left Munsan at 7:30 a. m. and arrived at 9:08. The convoy included the second contingent of 20 war correspondents to be admitted to Kaesong.

Allies Repulse Series Of Red Probing Attacks

U. S. Eighth Army Headquarters, Korea, (AP)—The Allies repulsed a series of light but persistent Red probing attacks all along the Korean front in bad weather yesterday.

The heavy rain and dense, low clouds held the Fifth Air Force to 50 sorties, the lowest number of flights since last April 28, when 42 were flown. The daily average is 572.

Most of the Red ground attacks were in the central area south and southeast of Kumsong.

U. S. Trying To Prevent Showdown

Washington, (AP)—Secretary Acheson said in a statement made public last night by the State department that the administration is urgently trying to keep the showdown with Communism from coming now in Korea.

He advised also that "if we allow ourselves to be lulled" by Korean truce developments "we will be hit within the next six months to a year with a much tougher blow somewhere else."

His views were given in the transcript of an off record speech which the secretary made here on June 29 to a group of magazine and book publishers. The State department said it was made public at the request of several who were present.

Referring to Korea in a discussion of the global east-west struggle, Acheson took issue with a description of the United Nations efforts as the "reluctant crusade."

30 Suffer Cuts, Bruises In Wreck Of Two Trains

Swanton, Vt. (AP)—A slowly moving Central Vermont railway passenger train crashed into the rear of an idling freight train yesterday injuring 30 persons—none critically.

The collision crushed the freight train's caboose and knocked three freight cars off the track, tying up traffic for several hours.

Thirty persons were treated at Kears Memorial hospital, St. Albans, and six at St. Albans hospital. Hospital attaches said most of them suffered cuts and bruises.

All with the exception of two were released after treatment at the two hospitals.

Mrs. M. Garsson Seriously Ill

New York (AP)—Mrs. Murray Garsson, wife of the industrial magnate convicted of bribery and conspiracy in connection with war contracts, was in a hospital yesterday, police said, after taking an overdose of sleeping tablets.

Police said Mrs. Garsson was in a serious condition. She was reported to have taken the sleeping pills Saturday.

Although Mrs. Garsson was taken to the hospital Saturday, police were not notified of the incident until yesterday.

The police report on the case carried the victim's name as Ruth Garsson and gave her age as 32. The hospital, however, identified her as Ruth Garsson. Police said she took the tablets at her Fifth Ave. home.

Former Local Man Dies In VA Hospital

Raymond G. Nicholson, 61, formerly of Stroudsburg, died yesterday morning in the Veterans hospital, Perry Point, Md., where he had been a patient six weeks.

Born in White Haven, he was a carpenter by trade and had lived in Stroudsburg from 1933 to 1942. He served as a cavalryman in the First Division under the late Gen. John J. Pershing in Mexico and later in World War One. He was a member of Thomas P. Lambert Post 2540, VFW, Stroudsburg.

Surviving are one sister, Elizabeth Hill, Straw Church, N. J.; one half brother, Jack Gehris, Stroudsburg; two step-sisters and three step-brothers.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2 p. m. Thursday in the Dunkelberger and Westbrook funeral home, Stroudsburg. Rev. Dr. P. N. Wohlson, St. John's Lutheran pastor, will officiate. Full military rites will be conducted at the graveside. Friends may call at the funeral home after 7 p. m. Wednesday.

Camp To Begin Final Week

Fifty-one boys have taken part in the YMCA day camp activities so far this summer.

The day camp begins its fourth and final week Tuesday, with a scheduled baseball game against Camp Dent. On Wednesday, there will be a journey to Snow Hill where the boys will engage in fishing and a watermelon hunt. They will spend Wednesday night at Saylor's Lake.

On the final day, Friday, July 20, the entire camp will take a trip to Hershey park. They will visit the zoo, the museum, and the Hershey Chocolate factory.

The bus will leave the YMCA at 7:30 a. m. Friday and return about 9 p. m.

Child Baptized In Bangor Church

Bangor — Judith Ann Jackson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Jackson, Bangor, was baptized yesterday at 1 p. m. in the Our Lady of Good Counsel Catholic church, S. Second St., Bangor. Rev. James Fitzgerald, C. M., officiated.

Mrs. Elizabeth Miller and Walter Finkbeiner, aunt and uncle, served as sponsors.

Lawrence M. Dennis, Sciota Postmaster For 30 Years, Succumbs To Brief Illness

Sciota — Lawrence M. Dennis, 53, postmaster and general merchant here for about 30 years, died at 7 p. m. Saturday in the General hospital, East Stroudsburg. Although in ill health two years, his death was unexpected. He was stricken ill late Saturday afternoon and died shortly after being admitted to the hospital.

A son of the late John and Catherine Dennis, of Stormville, he was a member and trustee of Hamilton Reformed church. Mr. Dennis purchased the general store here in 1921 and conducted it until his death. He served two years as acting postmaster and 28 years as postmaster.

Inquest Held In Death Of Truck Driver

Mauch Chunk (AP) — Sherwood M. Fehnel, 23, of Nazareth, a truck driver killed in a highway accident involving actress Carol Bruce, 31, died of causes unknown, a coroner's jury has decided.

Fehnel was crushed to death near Lehighton last Wednesday after his car and truck and a car Miss Bruce was driving sideswiped.

The jury verdict came after 15 minutes' deliberation Saturday.

Miss Bruce and her husband, Milton Nathan, New York businessman, attended the inquest but the actress did not testify.

State Policeman Stanley Koni-sinski testified that Miss Bruce's car was traveling 55 miles an hour immediately before the accident and 50 when her car and the truck sideswiped. Pennsylvania's legal speed limit is 50 miles an hour.

Miss Bruce is free in $1,000 bail on a charge of involuntary manslaughter pending action by the Carbon county grand jury.

Famous Plaza Closed One Day

New York (AP) — Rockefeller plaza — Three-block long, privately-owned thoroughfare heavily frequented by visitors — was closed to pedestrians and motorists yesterday.

Barricades blocked off the mid-Manhattan street in keeping with a city law which requires an annual 24-hour closing to maintain its status as private property.

The street, together with about 80 per cent of the land in Rockefeller center, is owned by Columbia University.

Truck Drivers Pay $50 Fines

Two truckers were jailed early Saturday morning and later released upon payment of a $50 fine and costs on charging of driving trucks carrying loads in excess of the State limits.

Donald Yorks, of Moscow RD 3, and Raynor West Jr., of Avoca, were arraigned before Justice of the Peace John Lesoine, of Tannersville, by the prosecuting State policemen.

Barry Play At Playhouse Stars Loder

Mountainhome — John Loder, one of Hollywood's great stars, will open tonight at the Pocono playhouse in Philip Barry's drama-comedy "Second Threshold."

Mr. Loder has long been one of the most admired stars of stage and screen. His best known films include "How Green Was My Valley," "One Night in Lisbon," "Old Acquaintance," in which he starred with Bette Davis; "Scotland Yard," "Dishonored Lady" with Hedy Lamarr, "Wife of Monte Cristo" and "Katia" with Danielle Darrieux.

The play "Second Threshold" is the last play from the pen of Philip Barry, who for 25 years was America's outstanding writer of "comedies of manners." It is a problem story of success. Its plot deals with the sense of defeat felt by a man who has achieved a brilliant career, but at the expense of holding on to the affection of no friends, not even his wife's nor his children's and who consequently faces a cold loneliness as he stands at the threshold of old age.

Driver Hospitalized With Multicentricity Of Injuries After Automobile Hits Tree

Saranac Lake Man Narrowly Misses Death

Snydersville — Richard F. Tyson, 28, 10½ Elm St., Saranac Lake, N. Y., narrowly missed death here at 5:10 a. m. yesterday while traveling toward a hospitalized father in Pottstown, Pa.

Tyson, according to State police at the Stroudsburg sub-station, apparently dozed momentarily, ran off the road and collided with a tree with terrific impact. Police said their check of the scene indicated no skid marks.

The Saranac man showed improvement last night at General hospital although he suffered a multiplicity of injuries, including:

Probable fracture of the skull, damaged palate, probable fracture of the lower jaw, extensive damage to teeth in upper and lower jaw and loss of many teeth, fracture to the right leg, numerous incisions, possible chest injuries and shock.

Police said Tyson was summoned from his home by relatives and hospital authorities in response to appeal from his gravely ill father. The parent is a patient in Pottstown Memorial hospital.

The Tyson car moved off the highway and struck a tree only a short distance from the intersection of Route 209 and Route 12. Damages to the car, a '41 model, were estimated at better than $600.

Paul Kulp Cuts Scalp In Accident

Paul Kulp, 420 Main St., Stroudsburg, suffered a lacerated scalp at 7:30 p. m. Saturday when the car in which he was riding was involved in a collision on Main St. between Eighth and Ninth Sts.

Kulp was treated at the office of Dr. Marshall Metzgar and released, Stroudsburg police said.

Officer reported Kulp was a passenger in a car operated by Frank Kasperski, 43, Stroudsburg RD 3. They said Kasperski was traveling east on Main St. and had stopped in a line of traffic. An auto operated by Robert Deutsch, 26, of 250 Burke Ave., Easton, collided.

Hellertown Sedan Caroms Against Trees; Woman Hurt

Middle Smithfield Township—A Hellertown woman received a compound fracture of the right arm yesterday when the car in which she was riding was forced off the road.

Mrs. Mary Tascio was treated at the Monroe County General hospital, where she also received treatment for lacerations of the upper lip and abrasions of both knees. Her condition was reported last night to be good.

According to Stroudsburg State police, Joseph Tascio, her husband, said that he was driving the car, a 1951 model sedan, on the Girard College road when another car, passing in the opposite direction, forced him off the road. He struck a tree on the right and careened across the road where he struck another tree. Mr. Tascio was not hurt.

Damage to the car was estimated at $400.

Soviet Trap Well Baited

By William L. Ryan
(AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)

If Moscow acts the way past experience indicates it will act, the next move is to try to wreck the West's rearmament program.

The trap is a yawning one, and liberally baited. Arms costs money and mean sacrifices in countries where sacrifice has been the state of existence for more than a decade.

Thus, if the shooting should end in Korea, we can reasonably expect the Communist countries to play possum for a while. While the danger is ever-present, there will be a respite in such danger spots as Yugoslavia, Iran, Burma, Indochina and the rest of the areas which attract greedy Communist eyes.

The Democratic governments of Western Europe, however, face a tougher time now than at any time since the war. So long as the Reds are firing bullets somewhere in the world, the free world can be expected to remain more or less united in the common cause—defense against the threat of aggression. It is when the shooting stops that the need for alertness is greatest.

The shaky governments of Western Europe face a terrible temptation. Easing up on arms expenditures would mean lessened taxes and a number of other things that would be popular. Already there have been signs of weakness. In England the left-wing branch of the Labor party is out for a cut-back, knowing full well how popular the move can be there. It will crop up in France and Italy, too, and particularly in Germany, and the Communists likely will take fullest advantage of it.

The Communists figure it this way: The only way the Atlantic pact can stay together under such popular pressures is through American determination to keep the pact nations on the alert. If the Defense Secretary George C. Marshall pets "Nato," after the four-month-old elkhound was presented to him at a special Washington ceremony by Arnt Natland in behalf of Norwegian school children.

American insistence clashes head-on with large sections of opinion in the pact nations, the alliance could begin falling apart at the seams.

This sort of thing, expertly maneuvered from behind the scenes, could lead to falling governments and general confusion. France, in particular, with its shaky coalition keeping the Communists out of the government, is prey to such maneuvering.

If Stalin can create enough dissension among the Allies and confusion in the Atlantic nations, he can figure Western Europe to drop into his back yard pocket by pocket. If he fails—well, Russian imperialism failed in the past and has meant only that they retired within their shell temporarily to wait the next opportunity.

If the Allies remain strong now, they may send the Soviet Union back Eastern Europe to stay for a while. The crucial test will be in Germany. The Politburo is waiting for signs of weakness.

That is the choice the west seems to face today: More sacrifices to assure security in the future, or fewer sacrifices for a present that may be terribly brief.

Four Hurt In Two-Car Accident

Mount Pocono — Four persons were injured at 4:40 p. m. yesterday in a two-car collision ten miles north of here. State police of the local sub-station said the accident occurred when one vehicle swung out to pass another and collided with an auto moving in the opposite direction.

Lawrence H. Croom, 34, 1616 Washington St., Trenton, N. J., accompanied by his wife, Elizabeth A., was traveling north when he attempted to make the pass, police said.

Mrs. Croom was removed by State police car to a Scranton hospital for treatment to minor injuries. She was not admitted.

Earl H. Morgan, 23, of 11 W. Elm St., Tamaqua, Pa. was operator of the south-bound car. Passengers in the automobile who were injured included:

Herman A. Morgan, 46, 125 Penn St., Tamaqua, lacerations to the forehead, nose, multiple lacerations to fingers on both hands and to the left knee. He was admitted to State hospital, Scranton.

Mrs. Elaine Morgan, 23, Tamaqua RD 3, contusions to the right arm and abrasions to left knee and ankle. Mrs. Morgan was admitted to State hospital, Scranton.

Pauline Morgan, 19, 11 W. Elm St., Tamaqua, was removed from the accident scene by Wesley Franklin's ambulance to Hahnemann hospital, Scranton. She suffered fracture of the right leg; lacerations to left leg and possible hip fracture.

DPA Rolls Dip 49,904 Persons

Harrisburg (AP) — Pennsylvania's relief rolls declined by 14.9 per cent—a net total of 49,904 persons—during the first half of 1951, the Department of Public Assistance reported yesterday.

The 19 bituminous coal producing counties, reflecting the heavy fuel demands of the booming steel industry, declined by 18 per cent, the report showed. Individual county decreases ranged from nine per cent in Clearfield to 35 per cent in Clarion county.

However, the six major anthracite counties decreased by only nine per cent. The department said this reflected not only slow seasonal demands but also a lessening in the use of this type of coal.

Three hard coal counties showed heavy decreases, however, Carbon had 20 per cent, Columbia, 16, and Northumberland, 15.

Only two counties—Forest and Fulton—failed to show a decline in the case load. Both areas are mountainous and sparsely populated.

Palmerton Youth King Of Nudists

Mays Landing, N. J. (AP)—The Eastern Sunbathing association would up its convention yesterday by crowning a nudist king and queen.

Their naked highnesses were James Supple, 19, of Palmerton, Pa. and Mrs. Marjorie Secor, pretty 21-year-old blonde of Prospect Park, Pa.

Elected president of the Eastern nudists was J. Reed Supple, father of the new king. Other officers chosen at the three-day convention attended by 400 nudists were:

Vice president, James Grant, Mays Landing; secretary, David Seales, Miami, Fla.; and two new directors, Gaeton Couture, Montreal, Canada and Mrs. Pam Johnson of Palmerton, Pa.

James Gould Campaigns For Office

Effort — James Gould, veteran of World War II, unopposed candidate for the office of prothonotary and clerk of the courts, said yesterday he will make an aggressive campaign for election to that office in the Fall.

Mr. Gould, long identified with the dairy business in the West End of Monroe county, is expected to receive a substantial "complimentary" vote at the July 24 primary election.

A native of the West End, Mr. Gould is a son of Walter and Emma Laux Gould, operators for many years of the Pine Hill Dairy property in this community.

Mr. Gould is a graduate of Chestnuthill Township schools and high school.

From 1944 through 1945 he served with the United States Navy. His tours of duty took him around the world with principal action in the Pacific and the Mediterranean.

Mr. Gould is married and has three children. He is still identified with the dairy industry.

Demos Seek Conference With Rebels

Harrisburg (AP)—Democrats were reported ready yesterday to join with anti-income tax Republican senators in drafting a compromise tax program.

A GOP Senator, who declined quotation by name, said Sen. John H. Dent, Democratic floor leader, was seeking a conference with Republican Senate "rebels" on the tax-budget deadlock.

The informant added, however, that the Democrats had nothing concrete to offer in specific tax proposals except to sharply increase business taxes.

For that reason, he said any conferences between Democrats and GOP foes of the income levy were likely to be unproductive. Another important factor is the constitutional requirement that all tax measures must originate in the House where sentiment is lukewarm to dropping the income levy.

But both Sen. James S. Berger (R-Potter) and Sen. John M. Walker, Republican floor leader, agreed in weekend statements the Republicans would settle the tax situation within the GOP caucus without either faction joining the Democrats. Berger is one of the administration income tax supporters. Walker is one of its opponents.

Berger, Senate Republican caucus chairman, announced new conferences will be held among the 30 GOP senators to thrash out some sort of compromise program.

In the Senate, a vote is scheduled on a bill to prohibit relief payments to able-bodied persons between 18 and 45 years of age. The plan would be tied into employment rolls. If U. S. Commerce department figures showed the total jobs in the nation to be below 3,000,000, the axe would fall on relief rolls.

The House has up for a vote legislation to extend the Pennsylvania turnpike northward through the anthracite region and the New York state border.

Sponsored by northeastern Pennsylvania lawmakers, the bill would require that the toll road extension be located east of the Susquehanna river.

In another development, the State Chamber of Commerce called on the Legislature to revise teacher salary legislation to limit a $200 pay boost for only the next two years.

House-passed bills, backed by the Pennsylvania State Education association, call for the $200 boost on top of another $200 previously authorized by the 1949 Legislature.

The legislation would continue the increases as part of minimum teacher salary schedules in the

YMCA Boys Plan Trip To New Orleans

A group of YMCA boys, in charge of John R. Wilson, general secretary of the YMCA, is going to take a trip to New Orleans, La.

They will start Monday, July 23, and plan to be gone for two weeks. The group will visit the Big Smokies, the Skyline Drive, one of the famous caverns in Virginia, and many other points of interests on the way.

They will travel in a station wagon with a trailer to carry the equipment. Most of the cooking will be done by the boys, who plan to sleep out every night.

Going on the trip are Gerald Canfield, Robert Metzgar, Richard Heintz, George Arnold, Tommy Metzgar, George Stoeckel, Ray Singer and John Wilson.

Blight Makes Appearance

State College (AP) — Late blight, dread killer of tomatoes and potatoes, has made its first appearance in Pennsylvania this year.

Two Injured In Collision On Route 611

Portland — Two men were hurt and taken to the Monroe County General hospital as the result of an accident which took place yesterday at 12:10 a. m., one mile north of Portland on Route 611.

Walter D. Bauer, of Mount Bethel RD 1, who was the driver of the one car was reported by the hospital last night to be much improved. His passenger, Albert VanDine, of Portland, was reported to be in good condition.

No one was injured in the other car, driven by Ambrose Pardize, of Succasunna, N. J. It contained four passengers besides Pardize.

According to Jesse Felker, Portland chief of police who investigated the accident, Pardize was going south of Route 611 from Delaware Water Gap, when the accident occurred.

Damage to Bauer's car was estimated at $75-100. Damage to Pardize's car was estimated at $200.

Authorities Bill Doomed

Harrisburg (AP)—A rocky road lies ahead for proposed legislation to liquidate the General State authority and the State Highway and Bridge authority.

The proposal, in the form of a constitutional amendment, was introduced in the House last week by Rep. Albert Johnson (R-McKean), House Republican whip.

The resolution would authorize the State to increase its legal debt to $215,000,000 for the specific purpose of cancelling out the obligations of the two borrow-and-build agencies.

The resolution must win approval by both houses by August 1 in order to go on the ballot in the November general election. This seems unlikely since many legislators already have bills before the General Assembly seeking new building projects by the agencies.

Johnson said the elimination of the two authorities was proposed by State fiscal officers as a money-saving measure. They claim, he said, that the State, in taking over the huge debt of the two agencies, could save money by creation of a new State debt at a lower interest rate on bonds because of taxing power backing. This view however is challenged by some fiscal sources.

The General State authority was set up under the administration of former Gov. James H. Duff with authority to borrow up to $175,000,000 to undertake new construction for the State. It leases the projects to the State under long-term financial arrangements.

The State Highways and Bridge authority was also established under the Duff administration. It was authorized to borrow up to $40,000,000 to build new bridges and road projects. It has already borrowed the full legal limit and legislation is now pending which would authorize borrowing an additional $40,000,000.

Still Another Step

When Governor Fine and Governor Driscoll of New Jersey signed a compact last week authorizing construction of a bridge over the Delaware River to connect New Jersey's turnpike with the final eastern extension of Pennsylvania's, still another step was taken to advance the greatest highway program of the East.

And even as the Governors took this action, a House committee in the Pennsylvania General Assembly reported out a bill authorizing a north-eastern extension of our superhighway. When built, this will serve the coal regions of the state by joining the northeastern counties—including Monroe—with the impressive cross-country highway. Its exact location will be a matter for the Turnpike Commission to decide.

As to the Pennsylvania-New Jersey compact, which now goes to Washington for congressional approval, the agreement will permit them to select a site for the important Delaware bridge, and to go forward with approaches from both sides.

Significance of this step is that with the completion of the superhighways on both sides of the river, a formidable stride will have been taken to provide the populous East with an all-weather route for civil defense as well as for military preparedness. Just as Germany profited by Hitler's autobahn network, so will a broad highway connect the manufacturing centers of the East and carry materials for war or peace.

It is well that the governors of the contiguous states realize there can be no delays in securing the final authorization for the completion of the link, and that both states will continue to push the program forward at all speed.

This Is Verse

In the midst of trying to act on important legislation, the House in Harrisburg has taken valuable time to pass a bill marking Oct. 15 as State Poetry Day.

We trust that will not require the setting up of a new bureau with a set of inspectors and payrollers to see that we have our poetry on straight come next October.

The way the Legislature is limping along, it's just possible it may not adjourn until Poetry Day. The event could be celebrated in rhyme—if not reason.

False Alarm

Last March cotton-state congressmen climbed all over Mike Di Salle, the government's price controller, because he had put a ceiling on cotton prices.

The ceiling represented 125 per cent of "parity"—one-fourth more than a fair price as calculated by the Agriculture Department.

But the cotton congressmen howled that Mr. Di Salle had abused his power outrageously.

They said that his ceiling would discourage production—that growers just wouldn't plant enough cotton to reach the goal of a 16 million bale crop which the Agriculture Department was calling for to make up for a short 1950 crop.

However, Mr. Di Salle refused to back down.

Well, the Agriculture Department has just reported that farmers this year have planted 29,510,000 acres of cotton, 58½ per cent more acres than in 1950. That's enough, if yields are average, to mean a 16,791,000-bale crop.

The price ceiling doesn't seem to have discouraged cotton producers.

Which strongly suggests that the congressmen who are now trying to abolish all price controls claiming that otherwise producers won't produce, also may be sounding false alarms.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

In the parlor car of a train bound from Chicago to Indianapolis, a salesman found himself seated between two cranks. Every ten minutes the lady on his left would ring for the porter and complain, "Shut the windows in this car and turn up the heat. I'm freezing to death." Five minutes later the old party on his right would get the porter back to order, "Turn off that blasted heat and get some air in this car before I suffocate."

The puzzled porter finally turned to the salesman for advice. "Nothing to it," said the salesman grimly. "Open the window and freeze the lady. Then close it and suffocate the gent."

Stella Adler, member of one of the most distinguished families in the theatre, sketched into a cafeteria and dined to the waitress. "I say, old girl, I'll have a spot of tea." The waitress, visibly impressed, exclaimed, "I'll bet you're English." "Not at all," admitted Miss Adler. "Just affected."

Hollywood

By Gene Handsaker

Hollywood—You thought Eleanor Parker was a pretty glamorous and beautiful critter? So did I. But to hear Eleanor tell it, she's practically a mass of bruises, scars, and imperfections.

An upper left tooth is cracked vertically, and the tooth below it is chipped off. Kid in the fourth grade, back in Cleveland, drove his fist into her mouth for refusing to yield the ball in a playground game.

Her lower teeth are crooked. The indentation under her lower lip is so deep it gets a shadow if her lighting isn't right. And she has freckles. Two—on her right forehead and to the left of her mouth—are standouts. The cameraman on "A Millionaire for Christy" recently yelled, "Make-up man! Get this dirt off Eleanor's face!"

Then there's the small, lumpy scar on her scalp. She tried to drag her dog out of a fight—and got in the way of the rake with which the other dog owner was protecting his pet. A hit-rider, in her youth, knocked her down and raked off the top of her right knee with his rear fender. "And I smile crooked," Eleanor reflected, smiling more on the left side than the right. But she doesn't mind her flaws.

"Perfect features don't make a personality. Women who are always worrying about their hair, and whether their noses are powdered, are liable to be blank personalities. I've known a couple of really beautiful girls of that sort. They were a torture to be with. Always priming."

Warner Brothers once tried to conceal Eleanor's cracked tooth with a removable cap. It hindered her facial expressions, she felt, and she refused to wear it.

These Days — By George E. Sokolsky

Sokolsky

U. N. and the Press
The United Nations gradually, through its various committees, is moving into World government, and the country that it uses as its testing ground is the United States. Few Americans are conscious of this activity of the United Nations and many of those who know what is being done by the various committees refuse to believe that any of it can have any permanent effect on American institutions.

Yet under the charter of the United Nations, which in the American political system is a treaty signed by the President and ratified by the Senate, decisions of the United Nations have already been applied to cases in our courts with the full weight of the law.

One of the committees of the United Nations which has concerned itself with questions tremendously important to the United States is the special committee on the draft convention on freedom of information. As the work of this committee is studied, it is clear that its interest is not in freedom of information but in the Right of Governments to limit and suppress information and for the harassment of reporters. This is done under the Aesopian word "responsibility."

Carroll Binder, of the Minneapolis Tribune, the American representative on this committee, has been waging a losing fight trying to educate some of the Europeans about freedom of the press, as practiced in the United States, where the imperfections of man are recognized and often assumed to be natural and therefore unpunishable.

In those other countries, the theory is that the "great mind" alone can determine what the people ought to know and that competent reporters, who check their data, are spies or irresponsible. Carroll Binder describes their attitude:

"These Governments are engaged in a terrifying experiment to condition the minds of hundreds of millions of persons in an attempt to make them respond automatically to the commands of their rulers. In their hands information has been transformed from a means of enlightenment and understanding into a political weapon taking any form or shape required by the situation. It has become a knife to assassinate reputations. A drug to dull the senses, or a poison to instill suspicion and fear."

"Of course, when they have sought support for their view in the United Nations, they have been careful to present it in the most disarming disguise. They have maintained that to promote friendly international relations it is first necessary to define what information is and then to suppress the dissemination of anything which does not conform to the definition."

What these countries seek to do in the United States is to make the newspapers and the journalists "responsible." They do not recognize that the laws of libel are sufficient; they demand that by administrative procedure, a Government shall be enabled to take action against a newspaper or a reporter who is not "responsible." By responsibility, they mean that no reporter should write nor should a newspaper print anything that annoys the politicians of any country. Binder says:

"... this convention was never, as I understand it, intended to deal primarily or even directly with the work of journalists. I have understood its intent to be the promotion and protection of everyone's right to freedom of information. To distort it into a punitive measure directed at journalists would certainly be a mockery of everything the United Nations has attempted to do in this field. We must realize that undesirable checks placed on journalists would apply equally to artists and teachers, to lawyers and politicians—and in the last analysis to people like ourselves drawn from every walk of life. Even if the grievances against some journalists and newspapers are assumed to be real, this is certainly too high a price to pay to settle a few scores!"

The State Department has put up a good fight against the Europeans who seek to suppress freedom of the press throughout the world by means of the United Nations. The American position is:

"We are convinced that the fundamental principles of freedom of information can not be the subject of compromise."

The United Nations is, however, a complex and enormous organization in which compromises must be found among 60 nations. Things happen there and the public finds itself faced by a condition from which there is no immediate withdrawal.

It is therefore essential that the American position be strengthened to say not that "freedom of information can not be the subject of compromise," but we should say that the freedoms of the American people are not subject to discussion.

Washington Report

By Fulton Lewis Jr.

Washington—Under the present wage and price control law installment plan buyers are forced to sign what amounts to a pauper's oath if they miss a time payment.

It's one of the little known sections of the control law President Truman demanded that Congress extend for one more year. It is contained in the section of the law dealing with credit controls.

Already large department stores in major cities have had to set up special departments to handle the paper work involved in taking pauper's oaths from those who through misfortune or illness miss a payment on furniture, household equipment or clothing purchased on credit.

The oaths must be kept on file at the store and are subject to review by investigators from the Federal Reserve Board. In some stores there already are thousands on file.

Prior to the Administration's control act steady customers of a department store could arrange default payments by dealing with the store management directly. No embarrassing statements as to financial status were required normally. Now, however, if you get sick, or a death occurs in the family, or if for any other reason unexpected financial straits develop, the buyer must appear in person at the store and sign an oath that he is unable to meet the time payment.

The pauper's oath under credit Regulation W is called a "Statement of Changed Conditions." It provides that an installment buyer, if unable to meet any given monthly payment, must swear that the inability to pay "is not pursuant to a preconceived plan or an intention to evade or circumvent the requirements of this regulation." The alleged reason is to prevent time payments from running over the maximum period allowed under Federal Reserve Board regulations, 15 months in most cases.

I've culled through some of the pauper's oaths on file in various department stores in major cities. Here are a few samples:

"My husband is not working at present. He suffered a heart attack. My only income is unemployment check of $25.00 per week plus my daughter's income of $30.00 per week."

"My work was slow, and I had a bill from the Internal Revenue. I had to pay $20 a month instead of $30 because I was only working 3 days a week. I will pay $30 a month until I finish when my work picks up."

Another installment buyer in a department store, who owed $129 on a $400 obligation for household furniture, wrote that "unforeseen hospital and doctor's expenses, and unreasonable rent" caused him to miss one payment. "Wife was ill. Pregnant," he wrote.

Another took an oath stating that "we had bought a new house which costs more than we expected and that left us with no money. Also my husband took sick, which made us fall back with our bills and I just couldn't catch up with them right away. We couldn't borrow to pay them because we couldn't pay it back. Refinancing my account will help."

There are thousands more of a similar nature, detailing personal misfortunes to their government that ordinarily would be a matter for adjustment between the buyer and the store manager. Very few of those who were required to sign the pauper's oath were attempting to evade payment, store managers explained. And even fewer understand what Regulation W or the credit control act is all about. In fact,

My New York

New York—New York Police Commissioner Thomas F. Murphy, who has been named for a federal district judgeship by President Truman, is a big overweight man who wears a walrus mustache and has that turn-of-century look and air about him. Commissioner Murphy has been talking for several months now about how he has cleaned up the bookmaking situation in New York and this rather silly kind of talk has made me look down on him. But today I began to realize the kind of lawbreaker that the commissioner was up against in this town—aside from bookies, that is—and I began feeling a little sorry for New York police commissioners.

The sheer gall and brass of the average New York criminal is astonishing. He looks deep into the eye of the law and then spits into it. If he is confronted by what he considers a good thing, he never for one moment lets the police stand in his way. This was drummed home just the other day by the last of a series of incidents that occurred in an East 63rd Street jewelry shop.

Back in February, a tall and heavy thug, reasonably well-dressed, robbed the store of $40,000 in gems. A month later, he came back and swiped $180,000 worth of jewels. And, just the other evening, the assistant manager of the shop was closing for the night when he heard a tapping on the front glass door, looked up and saw the thief back for the third time.

Well, ultimately the assistant manager and a Pinkerton guard chased the man away—they figured he'd return for the third time because he read in the papers that he had overlooked $250,000 in valuable stones in the safe—but the whole thing made me think of some other brassy souls who have worked this side of the street. I remember Irving Cole, for instance.

Irving Cole was a pickpocket who, six or eight years ago, attended a Brooklyn-New York baseball game at the Polo Grounds one summer afternoon. There were 59,485 persons in the stands besides Mr. Cole, and when Pitcher Kirby Higbe retired the last opposing player, they all poured out of the stands onto the playing field, as was the custom then, and headed for the exits. Mr. Cole mingled with them, in the tradition of his trade.

Around second base, he spied a thickest gentleman holding two kids by the hand. Mr. Cole brushed casually against the gent and slid his hand into the gent's pocket—where it was caught and held.

Many stated that the increased cost of living was the principal reason why they were in default on payments.

In order to police the department stores so that the Federal Reserve Board can be satisfied that managers are extracting pauper's oaths from their customers, additional investigators had to be put on the federal payroll. The Federal Reserve Board is hazy about how many extra employees it has hired to police the credit control act. But most department store owners say they have had visits from FBI investigators.

Most department store owners are more anxious to work out an easier payment plan, with their customers experiencing a stretch of bad luck, than to reclaim used merchandise. Now, however, they are required to demand, and the customer to fulfill, a degrading obligation forced on them by the government. It amounts to an oath that you are not lying about a death in the family or a long sickness or that you are unemployed because your job has vanished owing to defense demands of materials that once flowed to your workshop. This one looks as if it came right out of the Kremlin,

"Your hand is in my pocket," the gent said. "Let us go over to the West 135th Street Station." On the subway heading for the station, Mr. Cole asked "Hey—who are you, anyway?" The gent smiled, "Captain Bop." The gent of the main, old pick-pocket squad," he said. Mr. Cole has remained evergreen in my memory.

The most persistent and dogged crooks I ever ran across, though, were a couple of Tenth avenue boys named Frank Hurley and Joe Moore, who a few years ago walked into a West 42nd street bar named La Conga d'Or, hands in coat pockets like Bogart and Raft, and told bartender Victor Gallin to stick up his hands. Victor, a pretty hard apple himself in a legitimate way, looked up and sighed. "Look," he said, wearily, "I'm doing my accounts. Get out of here, will ya?"

Joe and Frank were taken somewhat aback by this. They looked at each other like Abbott and Costello, then shrugged their shoulders and walked out. For a couple of minutes they stood out on the sidewalk, arguing. Then they burst back in again. "Come on now," they said, wheedling a little, "this is a stick-up. Come on now, you." Victor got a little nettled. "Look, boys," he said, "I told you to get out of here, didn't I? Now beat it. On your way. Scram!"

Joe and Frank retired to the sidewalk again. This time they looked across the street and saw the Lincoln Tunnel cafe, another 42nd street saloon—so they hiked up their belts and went over and held up Joe Trudis, the bartender there, for 10 bucks. Then they strode outside again and, while Joe Trudis was calling police, unbeknownst to them, they looked over at La Conga d'Or again. Chins up, hands in pocket again—they moved in on Victor for the third time.

Looking at Life

By Erich Brandeis

Brandeis

ing terribly sorry for Jacob Malik, Soviet delegate to the United Nations.

Here he was giving a sumptuous dinner to his fellow delegates at the close of his tenure as President of Security Council.

The dinner was magnificent. Champagne, breast of pheasant, caviar, vintage wines and vodka.

It was almost time for the guests to arrive, when Malik discovered that Claudius Philippe, efficient maître d'hôtel of the Waldorf Astoria, had neglected to put one of the most important items in all Soviet Russia on the menu.

No banquet in the realm of the former czar is complete or proper without salami and pumpernickel for a start.

Here all that money had been spent to show the imperialist guests that the Russians know how to be correct—and no salami and pumpernickel!

I am told that Malik flew into a rage at the capitalistic plot. With his bad heart condition, heaven only knows what the fate of the United Nations and the world in general might have been if the Russian embassy had not been able to fetch some of the priceless banquet ingredient out of their deep freeze and remedy the awful oversight.

I shudder to think what might have happened if there had been no salami in the deep freeze and if all the New York delicatessen stores had been closed.

Unquestionably it could have been the beginning of World War III.

Today two other enormously important news items come to my attention. Again I am horrified to think how the persons concerned must suffer. My deepest and most sincere sympathy to them!

Item One concerns Barbara Hutton, the "poor little rich girl" whose name you may have seen in the papers before.

According to the report, she and Baron Gottfried von Cramm, the tennis player, "danced until the early morning hours at a West End night club" in London.

"They stayed until the club closed, and near the closing time, the dance floor was theirs alone. They swayed together to all tunes except sambas and the Charleston which they sat out at a softly lighted corner table for two. A bottle of red wine sat on the table, but no food."

Now comes the part that makes me feel so sad for this "poor little rich girl" of several marriages and divorces, and of many sorrows:

"Miss Hutton declined caviar, oysters and asparagus. She said she was not hungry."

Isn't it awful? With thousands and thousands of English men, women and children getting just enough food to keep body and soul together, poor Barbara with caviar, oysters and asparagus offered to her is not hungry!

The other item concerns a certain Mickey Devine of Greenwich, Conn., of whom, frankly, I had never heard.

Miss Devine, 38, who received a million dollars settlement when she divorced her first husband, auto magnate, Horace E. Dodge, Jr., has closed her $150,000 15-room-5-bath mansion and dismissed her five servants—all for the love of a fireman, whom she just married. She will live with him in a modest three-room apartment.

"I'm through with the playgirl life and plunging necklines," she told the reporter and showed him the socks she was knitting for her fireman-groom.

Do you wonder my heart is sad today?

Jean Elizabeth Elmore Is Bride Of Pvt. L. S. Schoch

Tobyhanna—The Tobyhanna Methodist church was the scene of the wedding of Miss Jean Elizabeth Elmore, niece of Mrs. Eva Tardie, of Gouldsboro, and Pvt. LeRoy Stanley Schoch, son of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Stanley Schoch Sr., this place, in the presence of many relatives and friends.

The impressive candlelight double ring ceremony was performed at 8 o'clock Saturday night by Rev. Richard Devor, the pastor.

The church chancel was beautifully decorated with white gladioli, baby's breath and snowballs.

Mrs. Eva Wiley, church organist, played suitable wedding music. Miss Nancy Wiley, soloist, was heard in the numbers, "O Promise Me" and "I Love You Truly."

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Clyde Elmore, of Susquehanna, wore a white nylon net dress trimmed with Chantilly lace and marquisette. Her tiered matching Chantilly lace fingertip veil was held in place by a white sweetheart heart band, trimmed with seed pearls. She carried a fan-shaped bouquet of white roses and baby's breath.

The matron-of-honor, Mrs. Nancy Saxe, of Tobyhanna, wore a yellow net dress over taffeta with lace crownless picture hat and carried a fan-shaped bouquet of mixed flowers.

There were two bridesmaids, both cousins of the bridegroom, Miss Norma Cadue and Miss Dorothy Dalley, both of this place. They wore appliqued print organdy dresses over taffeta with matching picture hats. The former's was orchid color and the latter green. They carried fan-shaped bouquets of mixed flowers.

The flower girls were Carol Ann Dalley and Judy Bleasukas, also cousins of the bridegroom. They wore nylon dresses flower trimmed, the former pink and the latter blue. They carried baskets of mixed flowers.

The best man was Pvt. William A. Clark, formerly of Mountainhome, now stationed at Fort Devins, Mass. The ushers were Harry Dalley and William Dalley Jr., both of this place.

The bride's aunt wore a sheer print rayon dress with white accessories and picture hat, while the bridegroom's mother chose a white Bemberg sheer print with matching accessories. They both wore corsages of white and yellow carnations.

The reception for 250 persons followed the wedding in the church parlors. The bride's table was centered with American beauty roses and tiered wedding cakes at either end. Garden flowers were on the other tables.

The bridegroom was graduated from the Coolbaugh High school and was formerly employed at Pocono Manor association, is stationed with the quartermaster's corps at Fort Devins, Mass. The bride was graduated from Gouldsboro High school and is employed at Seasonal Sports Wear Inc., this place.

Owing to the fact the bridegroom must return to camp they left on a short wedding trip to an undisclosed destination. The bride chose a voile dress with white accessories and carnation corsage for traveling. They will make their future home in this place.

Dr. Robert Brown Speaks On History Of Local Schools

Dr. Robert Brown, past president and historian of the Monroe County Historical Society, gave most interesting recital of the history of the Stroudsburg schools, of which he is retired superintendent, at the 30th annual summer meeting held at the Stroud Community House Saturday afternoon.

Dr. LeRoy J. Koehler, a past president, was in charge of the program in place of Earl F. Groner, president, who is taking a course of study. Dr. N. G. Meyer gave the invocation.

Miss Vivian Amburst, was heard in two vocal numbers, "The Night Has a Thousand Eyes," Hagnan, and "One Fine Day," Puccini, with Miss Jennene Zugel accompanist.

Dr. Koehler stated the society was organized in 1921, and that one of the organizers and first president was Dr. Emma Erdman, who filled the office some 16 years. He announced Saturday was her 83rd birthday. Dr. Erdman resides at Tenafly, N. J. All attending signed birthday greeting cards to be sent her.

There was a display of commencement programs covering the years gathered by Dr. Brown which proved most interesting.

Dr. Brown who spoke on the subject, "Recollections of the Schools of Stroudsburg," served the school 40 years as teacher, principal and superintendent of the schools of the borough. Lack of records made preparation difficult.

The speaker said there was no record of any schools for children of the earliest settlers of Stroudsburg and teaching such as it was, was probably by parents.

Fortunately, the speaker said, Col. Jacob Stroud, employed a teacher who held a school at his residence, Fort Penn, (present Stroud Community House) for his children and those of the community who taught the rudiments of numbers and language.

The first school building, he said (according to the late B. F. Morey) was erected in 1800 on Keefer's Hill, beyond the present Stroudsburg cemetery.

The State Legislature granted charters of incorporation for schools. Earliest was for the Stroudsburg Academy, known as the Stone Academy, March 28, 1814, which was unsuccessful and a building was erected at the site of the present Shull property for religious and civic purposes existing for 40 years.

In 1839 another was granted for Stroudsburg French seminary, which served to the end of the Civil war. The charter for the Stroudsburg Academy (site of Dr. Claus G. Jordan property) was issued March 27, 1839.

The school picture cleared after 1875, the speaker said, when there were four elementary schools in addition to the academy—Bark on what is now Ann St.; Race, near Scott and Ninth; Graveyard, opposite old cemetery, 300 Main St., and Colored, site of Dr. E. J. Denning property, 515 Thomas St., exclusive for colored children.

Dr. Brown told of the erection of the first unit of the High school at Sixth and Thomas Sts., and the succeeding structures, the fire which destroyed the building Feb. 26, 1927. He also told of the erection of the Morey building, the new High school and the present Ramsey building.

He gave interesting biographies of B. F. Morey, teacher, principal and school director in addition to his publishing business, and of Will H. Ramsey, principal, who died in August, 1914, when Dr. Brown was elected to succeed him.

The speaker also brought out many instances in connection with changes made in courses and some of the difficulties faced, also pupil reaction which proved most interesting.

At the close of the meeting tea and cookies were served under the direction of Mrs. Horace Walters and assistants. Others on the committee of arrangements were Dr. Nathan G. Meyer, chairman, Mrs. Chester H. Rhodes, Dr. C. S. Flagler and Dr. Koehler. Rev. F. H. Blatt, chaplain, gave the closing prayer.

Wohlson's Are Hosts To Son And Other Relatives

Rev. Dr. and Mrs. P. N. Wohlson entertained their son, Rev. Asa S. Wohlson and family, and Doctor Wohlson's brother, Ralph J. Wohlson and wife over the weekend. The event marked the birthdays of Pastor Asa Wohlson and his daughter, Marilyn Sue.

Pastor Asa Wohlson is pastor of the large St. Peter's Lutheran church in Hanover Ave., Allentown, and is spending his vacation at his cottage at Paradise Falls Lutheran association.

Ralph Wohlson will be remembered as the speaker at the annual Ladies' Night of St. John's Brotherhood two years ago. He is now serving his second term as president of the Brotherhood of the United Lutheran Church in America. He resides in Bridgeport, Conn., where he is engaged in the millwork business.

Around The Stroudsburgs

Mr. and Mrs. Chester P. Miller, of East Stroudsburg RD 3, left Saturday afternoon on a week's vacation trip to Beach Haven and Wildwood, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester E. Lord, of Hazleton, were visitors in the borough Saturday night when they were greeted by numerous of their friends.

Mrs. Leo J. Dornbos, of Thomas St., will accompany her husband to his headquarters at North Adams, Mass., this morning to be absent a week or ten days.

Jack Dornbos, Thomas St., Stroudsburg, leaves today for a vacation at the Boy Scout Camp Weygaft, near Columbia, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Kegley, of N. Fifth St., Stroudsburg, have returned from a week's visit in New York City. While there Mr. Kegley attended the Shrine convention and participated in two big parades.

Stroudsburg Young Couple Are Wedded

Miss Joan Delores Amburst, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl G. Amburst, of 117 N. Third St., Stroudsburg, and Arvet M. Chambers Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Arvet M. Chambers Sr., of Media, were wedded at the bride's home Thursday at 10 a. m. Rev. Cyril Butterfield, pastor of Bethel A. M. E. church, performed the single ring ceremony.

The bride wore a white organdy street length dress with blue accessories, white hat and corsage of red roses and baby breath.

The attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Posten, brother-in-law and sister of the bridegroom. Mrs. Posten wore a pink street length dress with white accessories.

The bride attended Stroudsburg High school. The bridegroom was graduated from the Swarthmore High school and had been employed at the Art Metal plant and later by a lumber company at Media.

The bridegroom, who received his induction papers two weeks ago, left immediately after the wedding for Wilkes-Barre for induction into the armed forces. As a result the wedding trip had to be postponed to some future date.

Matt Kime Is Honor Guest On Natal Day

Canadensis—Louis Huguenin entertained a number of guests at the home of Mrs. A. C. Doody, this place, Thursday night, July 12, in honor of the birthday of her son-in-law, Matt Kime.

The party made a trek to the falls at Buck Hill where Mr. Huguenin is employed at the present time.

Later a most enjoyable picnic supper was served, and a beautifully decorated birthday cake was presented to the guest of honor.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Matt Kime, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Voige, Lois, Tommy and Louis Voige, and the host and hostess, Mr. Huguenin and Mrs. Doody.

Davies-Wall Nuptials At Shawnee Church Saturday

Shawnee-on-Delaware—Miss Myra Naomi Wall, daughter of Mrs. Anna Lee Wall, of Augusta, Ga., and the late Wade Hampton Wall, became the bride of Evan Vaughn Davies, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. V. Davies, of Slatington, Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Presbyterian church, this place.

Rev. Hubert Newton, pastor of the Presbyterian Church of the Mountain, Delaware Water Gap, performed the double ring ceremony, assisted by Rev. Robert Bradburn, acting pastor of the church. Numerous relatives and friends were in attendance.

The front of the church presented a pretty appearance with decorations of white hydrangea and blue delphiniums.

Durell Mader, of Stroudsburg, was soloist, singing "For You Alone," "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer," accompanied by the church organist, Miss Carole Cramer, who also provided wedding music.

The bride was given in marriage by Sterling G. Walter, her brother-in-law, with whose family she makes her home. She wore a ballerina length white printed organdy dress with short veil held in place by a headband of white sweepings. She carried an old-fashioned bouquet of mixed flowers.

Miss Cleona Anthony of East Stroudsburg, bridesmaid, was attired in a white organdy over blue dress with short veil held by white sweepings and blue delphiniums and blue mits. Her old-fashioned bouquet consisted of blue and white flowers.

Leonard Anthony, of Slatington, acted as best man for his brother-in-law.

The brides sister, Mrs. Sterling Walter, wore powder blue print dress with black accessories and a corsage of pink sweepings. The bridegroom's mother chose a pale green print dress and corsage of white gardenias.

The ceremony was followed by a reception at the Walter home. The bride's table was centered with a large tiered wedding cake and masses of sweepings.

Mr. and Mrs. Davies left later on a week's honeymoon trip to Cape Cod, Mass., and the New England states. They will spend the summer in an apartment, 75 Ridgeway St., East Stroudsburg.

The bride is employed at the Patterson-Kelley plant, East Stroudsburg.

The bridegroom was graduated from the East Stroudsburg State Teachers College the past week and in September will enter a medical college in Richmond, Va., when the newlyweds will make their home in that city.

Swiftwater Aid Plans Picnic, Bazaar July 21

Swiftwater—The annual picnic and bazaar of the Ladies' Aid of St. Paul's Reformed church, which will be held July 21 at the East Swiftwater picnic grove, was the main topic of business at the meeting of the group Thursday night last at the home of Mrs. Helen Schmidt, a new member. The society purchased a large new coffee urn and individual serving trays and are sponsoring the laying of a new flagstone entrance at the church.

The picnic and bazaar this week will feature a parcel pot sale, a grab bag for the children, a fancy goods table and various refreshment booths.

Dr. Alta Coffman and Mrs. Shick will serve as hostesses at next month's meeting in the social room of the church. Mrs. Sadie Heller and Mrs. Ethel Bach were named for church care for the month.

Mrs. Beulah Coffman assisted Mrs. Schmidt in serving refreshments of ice cream, cake and ginger ale after the meeting.

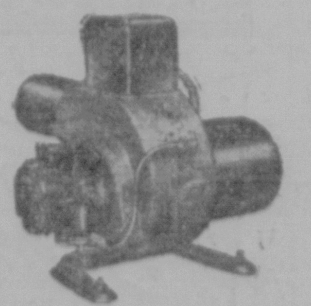

Those in attendance were: Mrs. Nancy M. Bowman, who is 83 years of age; Elizabeth Heckman, Sadie Heller, Bertha Rinker, Grace Kresge, Ethel Bach, Beulah Coffman, Margaret Westcott, Alta Coffman, Claire Shick, Gertrude Lindstedt, Beatrice Bush, Gladys Warner, Edith Bowman and the hostess, Mrs. Schmidt.

Betty Hinton July Bride At St. John's

Miss Betty Jean Hinton, of Williamsport and Stroudsburg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester C. Hinton, of Stroudsburg, and Edward M. Colliflower, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Colliflower, of 1916 Ninth St., Allentown, were married at St. John's Evangelical Lutheran church, this place, Sunday afternoon at 2:30 p. m.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. P. N. Wohlson, pastor of the church.

Robert H. Cathcart, church organist, furnished the wedding music, the soloist having been Miss Jean Van Buskirk, of Saylorsburg.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an Alice blue gown and veil of light blue and tulle crown style made of seeded pearls and rhinestones. She carried a prayer book covered with an orchid and gardenias with streamers of blue and white.

The matron-of-honor was Mrs. Norman Potter, of 117 Lennox Ave., East Stroudsburg. She was attired in a pink organdy gown and pink picture hat and carried a colonial bouquet of pink roses.

Norman Potter was best man and the ushers were Charles Locke, brother-in-law of the bride, of Allentown, and John Kern, of Easton.

The reception in the form of a lawn party was held at 910 N. Ninth St., Stroudsburg, where the newly wedded couple will make their home.

Mr. and Mrs. Colliflower left on a three-day wedding trip through the Poconos. For traveling, the bride wore blue marquisette dress with white accessories and gardenia corsage. They will be at home after July 19.

The bride was graduated from the Chestnut Hill High school, class of 1943, and is employed at the Williamsport hospital, Williamsport, Pa.

The bridegroom was graduated from the Allentown High school, attended Penn State College and was also graduated from the sheet metal department of Williamsport Technical Institute. He is employed by Robert Christman, 1210 W. Main St., Stroudsburg.

Mrs. Catherine Mosteller, who celebrated her 89th birthday Saturday was honored at a party at her West Main St. home that night. It also marked the birthday of her son, Russell Mosteller, of Pen Argyl.

A social time with cards was enjoyed and the guest of honor was the recipient of many gifts. Refreshments were served.

Those in attendance were: Mr. and Mrs. Russell Mosteller, of Pen Argyl, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Edwards, of Wyckoff, N. J.; Rocco English, of Wilkes-Barre; Mr. and Mrs. Horace Levy and son, Franklin, Miss Frances Everitt, Miss Elizabeth B. Martin, Miss John Papon and daughters, Marie, Katherine, Joan, Patty, Betty and Judy.

Mrs. Mosteller's grandson, Billy Edwards, wife and baby, of Wyckoff, N. J., visited her on Sunday.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

Think maybe we could put a repeat order on the weather for this weekend. It was perfect for almost anything—but especially nice for having company because it was so pleasant out-doors that nobody lingered in the house—which stayed unusually neat for a weekend.

And with all the sunshine and air and swimming, everybody's appetite added sauce to even the simplest meal.

But the pleasantest time of all was the birthday party yesterday afternoon for the two-year-old cousin with all the others of assorted ages joining in the fun.

And enough adults to take turns counting heads in the water to be sure all nine of them were safely there. However that's more complicated this summer than it's ever been before with two more joining the group that thinks the best way to swim is under water.

Every once in a while the count would turn out a couple short and we'd all turn out on the river bank to help count. It was a little like counting tropical fish in a very populated aquarium.

However, we each had the right number to bring home so I guess we didn't miss any.

Auer Reports Crabgrass Can Be Conquered

Auer's Paint store says, crabgrass can be conquered.

For generations crabgrass has been the bully of lawns. Its hot weather campaign every summer made the typical lawn loving family cower and cringe. That is the way it was until a year ago. Then home owners found that the new Scuti was the David to help them knock out the giant.

Lawn care readers by the hundreds wrote grateful letters last fall because for the first time crabgrass had not been the bane of their lawn lives. They were expressing thanks for the introduction of Scuti.

The same formulation of easy-to-use material is available this year, at least supplies seem sufficient for the early part of the season. Scuti is dry-applied just as it comes from the package, preferably with the spreader. Here are a few hints to plan a successful program:

Timing—Delay first application until crabgrass plants are plainly visible in lawn. The time varies with climatic conditions but generally crabgrass is just getting started about the time there has been enough hot weather and sunshine to bring ramble roses into full bloom. Crabgrass should be well under way when the first hollyhock bloom is spotted.

Repeat—treatments are needed at five to seven day intervals, usually a total of three at normal rate. If treatment is delayed until crabgrass is coarse, stemmy, matted, then two at double rate will be more effective.

Maturing crabgrass grows fast mid-summer. It will do much less its competition is stopped before day and find out how you too can damage to the lawn.

Wild grasses other than crabgrass may spoil the summer lawn.
Quite a few folks failed to recognize the difference and have been disappointed when Scuti did not kill what they called crabgrass.

Unfortunately there is as yet no selective control for these weed

Knew little the plans of King
Crabgrass, the sneaky;
Who schemed to inherit, by intrigue so subtle,
The face of the earth, 'til rescued
by Scuti.

What Happened?
A Baltimore dealer reported the experience of a city customer who planted 25 lbs. seed and got a beautiful lawn in three weeks. Her neighbors were very complimentary until it became obvious that the grass was dying wherever anyone walked on it.

The answer is easy. Seed planted way too thick. Probably needed 5 lbs. instead of 25 lbs. Grass was so thick, growth was spindly, weak, easily crushed and bruised. Hot sun and slight drying fatal in such a condition.

Regardless of which form of weed control is employed, it must be kept in mind that this is but one phase of lawn maintenance.
Weed control of itself will not reduce the need for regular feeding and seeding, proper mowing and watering.

Stop in at Auer's Paint store, 1016 W. Main St., Stroudsburg, today and find out how you too can conquer crabgrass.

Musk, used commercially in perfumes, is obtained from the musk-deer, although the odor is also emitted by the musk-ox, muskrat, musk-duck, musk-shrew, muskbeetle, and the alligator of Central America.

The word "musk" originally signified the male sparrowhawk and is believed to have been used for a firearm because of a European habit of naming weapons
after birds and animals.

Features Once Revolutionary Now Standard

Only in the Ferguson tractor can you get all these features.
Called "revolutionary" when first introduced over 10 years ago, the Ferguson system of implement linkage and hydraulic control has since become the standard by which modern farm power is measured.

Although "this" or "that" feature—even design—may have been copied or imitated by other tractor manufacturers—only in today's Ferguson tractor can you get all the revolutionary Ferguson system features.

Built-in hydraulic system, finger tip implement control, automatic draft control, automatic tractor and implement protection, automatic steering alignment, 3-point converging implement linkage.

Fund Raised For Second Camp Group

Contributions to the Salvation Army camp fund during the week-end resulted in obtaining sufficient funds to help send the second contingent of underprivileged children to summer camp, Major May Adam said yesterday.

Another member of the Monroe County Federation of Clubs, the Veterans of Foreign Wars achieved its $60 quota. The final $48 payment from VFW was received yesterday.

George N. Kemp Post, American Legion returned $38.50. Another $11.50 was received from Loyal Order of Moose.

Individuals who contributed were Mrs. William George, Wiley Ave., $12.50 and Mrs. Mary Serfass, $12.50.

Gifts may be sent to Salvation Army headquarters to help finance the last group—the Sunbeam—in the summer camp at Forks, Pa.

Club Camp Dedicated

music and for religious and charitable purposes.

"Billions of dollars make up the endowments which enable these institutions to serve our people," Martin continued, "and to stimulate our material, cultural and spiritual progress."

"These foundations offer a great and convincing argument for the free enterprise system, under which the United States, in the short span of 175 years, has become the wealthiest and most powerful Nation on earth."

"They demonstrate clearly that free men and women will serve the cause of human brotherhood so much better than any dictatorship or any army of bureaucratic planners," he noted.

"This camp is representative of a great and worthy human impulse—to do good, to brighten the lives of children and to help in their development—without regard for race, color or creed."

"No more noble purpose can be served than that which helps guide the footsteps of little children toward a better life."

Everything we possess in America, all of our vast progress, all of our cultural and spiritual attainments—were made possible because our plan of government was based upon two fundamental principles—freedom of the individual and equality of opportunity.

"Our Republic was founded upon a philosophy of human dignity and freedom under God, Walter said. He added: Its ideals are based on the eternal truths of the Holy Bible—the Divine teachings that are the essence of every religious faith."

"The spirit of tolerant religion has guided our statesmen—soldiers—government officials—educators and our people," Senator Martin delivered this charge:

"To the children who are the guests of the Golden Slipper Square Club I have a word of advice which I hope they will heed now and in later life."

"To them I say: Learn the meaning of America. Learn the meaning of patriotism and love of our Flag. Learn the fundamentals of good citizenship."

"Be true to the teachings of your religious faith. All religions that worship God make up the spiritual strength of our country."

"Those of us who are Christians can serve our country best by being Christians."

"The American who is of the faith of Israel can be a better American if he is a better Jew."

"Together we can go forward in fellowship and understanding, respecting the rights of each other, and reaching upward for the finer things of life that bring peace and friendship."

Senator Crowe told the audience of some 1,000 persons that he had great personal pride in the growth of the camp and its work in developing "Americans in the tradition of America regardless of race or creed."

The Monroe county senator disclosed he had covered the Poconos region with executives of the Golden Slipper Square Club when they were seeking sites for a camp in an effort to help them locate a suitable spot for their project of aiding the underprivileged.

"Growth of this camping community has been such that it challenges us as Americans to seek out the course of service, rather than the course of self-seeking," Senator Crowe said.

Miss Frances N. Harrison, Philadelphia executive, head of the Federation of Jewish Charities, and Louis E. Evans, of Community Chest, also spoke at the ceremonies.

Jack Shifer, president of the Golden Slipper Square Club; Leonard A. Levine, president of the social club; Mrs. William E. McKenna, president, friends of the club, spoke during the ceremonies which included entertainment by 119 campers.

Foes Of Truck Weight Bill Carry Fight To State House

Harrisburg, (AP)—Opponents of Senate-passed legislation increasing Pennsylvania's truck weight limits got ready yesterday for a last-ditch fight in the House.

The measure would increase the weight limits of the commonly-used tractor-trailer trucks from 45,000 to 60,000 pounds and increase fine for overweight.

"There's no question that much of the damage to township roads can be blamed on these heavy trucks," said H. A. Thomson, secretary of the State Association of Township Supervisors in a statement.

"Our local roads and bridges already are carrying greater weights than they were built to support," Thomson said. "If even heavier loads are put on the township road system, it is sure to crumble faster than we can keep up with repairs."

In another weekend blast at the bill, Jacob K. Mahood, secretary of the Pennsylvania State Grange, said:

"Common sense dictates that roads of greater capacity should be built before truck weights are increased."

On the other side, Edward Gogolin, general manager of the Pennsylvania Motor Truck association, said the bill would help fulfill recommendations of the State Highway Planning commission.

"Truck registration fee increases proposed in the fair truck bill, which would contribute an additional $1,500,000 annually to the motor fund, make more certain that this far-sighted plan for the Commonwealth highways will be carried out," Gogolin said, adding:

"While the (commission) report clearly states that the commission takes no stand on overall truck weights, it does recommend consideration of changes in the present State weight limits for trucks."

Girl To Wed GI By Phone

Traustein, Germany (AP) A 24-year-old German typist said yesterday she would marry an American soldier by trans-Atlantic telephone at 6 p. m. (1 p. m. EDT) today.

Hildegard Streltewieser, who lives with her parents in this small Bavarian town, said she had a telegram from her sweetheart, Pfc. Harry C. Kline, 20, of Reading, Pa., that all arrangements had been made.

Kline is now stationed at Fort Leavenworth, Kan., where the minister is to perform the rites. "I'm all excited," she told reporters. "I must have an American witness, and I don't know whether he must be a lawyer or notary public. I must hurry and find out."

The girl said she met Kline in 1949 when he was stationed in Nuernberg, where she was employed.

Cleveland Gains Even Split With Senators In Twin Bill

Cleveland, (AP)—Cleveland's Indians came back to beat the Washington Senators 7-2 on Mike Garcia's seven-hit hurling yesterday after the Senators took the opener 7-4 with Conrad Marrero allowing the Tribe 12 scattered blows.

Garcia, winning his eleventh victory against six defeats, went to the mound just two days after he had pulled a thigh muscle in pitching against the Yankees.

The Indians picked up two runs in the first inning of the nightcap without scoring a hit and then coasted to an easy victory.

Starter Sid Hudson, who suffered the loss, was driven from the mound in the fourth as the Tribesmen pushed over four markers on four singles and Bob Avila's double.

Two Markers

Washington's two runs came in the seventh on three singles and an infield out.

In the opener, the visitors jumped on four Cleveland hurlers with a 14-hit attack. A walk, a single, a fly and Sam Mele's two-run homer produced three runs in the first inning and three more Senators crossed the plate in a sixth-inning uprising featuring Eddie Yost's double and three singles.

Two of Cleveland's tallies were made in the sixth when Henry Simpson homered with Al Rosen on base. The Tribe rallied in the ninth to bring in another run.

Bob Chakales, the loser, allowed nine hits before he was removed in the fourth. George Zverink, Gerald Fahr and Lou Brislie followed him to the mound.

Pittsburgh, Giants Trade Victories

New York (AP)—Jim Hearn hung up his eighth victory and fourth over Pittsburgh yesterday as he pitched the New York Giants to an 8-3 triumph over the Pirates in the second game of a doubleheader. The Pirates won the opener, 7-6, in 12 innings. Ery Dusk singled home the winning run.

The first game, requiring three hours and 29 minutes to play, was decided when Dusk, pitcher-outfielder who was making his debut as a second baseman for the Pirates, singled with two out in the twelfth to score Gus Bell from third base.

Blow

The blow was delivered at the expense of southpaw Dave Koslo, last of three New York pitchers who was charged with his sixth defeat of the year.

The Giants held a 6-2 lead behind Sal Maglie coming into the seventh inning.

The Pirates scored twice in the seventh before Allen Gettel retired the side. Then the Buccos tied it up in the ninth off Gettel when George Strickland, who made four hits in the game, tripled, scored on an infield out and Pete Castiglione homered.

Kunkletown Decisions Tobyhanna

Tobyhanna—Kunkletown won its tenth game in 11 Pocono Mountain League starts here yesterday, as the league leading aggregation took the measure of Tobyhanna, 9-3, on the Coolbaugh High school field. Five runs in the first inning were enough to give the visiting contingent the victory.

However, the Kunkletown contingent got to Al Schoch for two more counters in the third, then pushed across singletons off Bob "Lefty" Weirich in the seventh and ninth frames.

Three Runs

Tobyhanna was held scoreless through the first eight innings by the veteran Asher Smith, but the home team did escape a shutout by pushing three markers across the plate in the ninth round.

The big blows in a winning cause were home runs by France and Kresge, the latter accounting for two. Kresge unloaded his first round tripper in the initial inning and then finished with a four-bagger in the ninth. France rapped his homer in the third, with one mate aboard.

Reynolds' Relief Work Saves Second Battle After Tigers Score Victory In Opening Tilt

by Harry Stapler

Detroit (AP)—Allie (No-Hit) Reynolds strode in as a relief pitcher in the ninth inning to halt a blooming Detroit rally and gave the New York Yankees an 8-7 win in the second game of a doubleheader yesterday. The Tigers won the first game 5-3 on a brawny Vic Wertz's two run triple.

Detroit pinchhitter Charley Keller's three-run homer with one out in the ninth drove starter Tom Morgan, the winner, to the showers and brought in Reynolds.

Reynolds, who pitched a no-hitter last week, gave up a single and a walk but retired the side as 45,919 fans moaned.

The Yankees' doubleheader jinx—they haven't swept both games this year—was maintained when Freddie Hutchinson hurled his eighth win in the opener. Hutchinson, who has lost three games, gave up nine hits, including Yogi Berra's thirteenth homer.

Big Bat

In the second game, big John Mize drove in three runs, two of them with a single that sparked a five-run explosion in the first inning.

Third baseman George Kell's costly double error allowed Mize to cross the plate with one of the first-inning runs. Starter Gene Bearden (2-2) was the loser.

The Yankees were leading 6-1 when Wertz hit his 17th homer in the sixth. Dick Kryhoski's sixth homer in the eighth scored two runs, but the Yanks scored single runs in the seventh and ninth.

Morgan, who won his fourth straight game against one loss, allowed only five hits in the first eight innings.

In the opener, lefthander Bob Kuzava dropped his fifth game against five wins. Johnny Grith, Aaron Robinson and Kell doubled home one run each to join Wertz in the ten-hit Tiger attack.

Reynolds, who has hit hard in recent weeks, has come through with two brilliant pitching performances in the past week to help smooth the rocky western trip thus far for the defending champions.

The event split dropped the Yankees two and one-half games behind the pace setting Boston Red Sox and one-half game behind the second place Pale Hose.

Analomink Rolls Over Tannersville

Tannersville — Analomink was too much for Tannersville in a Pocono Mountain League doubleheader here at the Pocono High school diamond yesterday, by scores of 5-3 and 7-5. Both contests were in doubt right up until the final out.

Two Tannersville pitchers couldn't stop Analomink in the middle innings of the first game yesterday, as Tannersville failed to come from behind in a torrid scrap for the opening game verdict.

Same Story

It was the same story in the nightcap, as the visiting contingent did its damage in the middle innings once again, while Tannersville failed to bring home the bacon despite a one-run spurge in the final inning.

State VFW Elevates Christine

Philadelphia — Attorney Elmer D. Christine, Stroudsburg, judge advocate of the Pennsylvania Veterans of Foreign Wars, was elected junior vice commander at closing sessions of the 32nd annual encampment here Saturday.

Mr. Christine, a past commander of Thomas P. Lambert Post, No. 2540 in Stroudsburg, won the election on the basis of an outstanding record of service to the VFW in local, district, regional and state-wide offices.

Members of his post, here in force as accredited delegates together with district and eastern delegates, gave strong testimony to Mr. Christine's record of service.

Immediately after the new junior vice commander was named, announcement was made that a special "welcome home" celebration in his honor will be conducted in Stroudsburg Thursday at 8:30 p.m.

Charles C. Rails, national commander of Seattle, Wash., speaking at the conclusion of the 32nd annual encampment of the Pennsylvania VFW, said only 12½ per cent of the country's public schools require a thorough study of American history.

"Anyone who handles our children," Rails said, "should teach them basic, honest Americanism instead of these subversive ideas which are being doled out now."

James J. Davis Jr., Philadelphia attorney and son of the late Sen. James (Puddler Jim) Davis, was elected state commander to succeed Louis G. Feldmann, Hazleton. Mrs. Dorothy K. Simmons, Pittsburgh, was named to head the ladies' auxiliary.

Joining Davis as other new officers are: Hugh H. Hoke, Schuylkill Haven; C. A. Gnaul, Williamsport, adjutant and quartermaster; Joseph E. Kovacs, Uniontown, judge advocate; Rabbi Seymour Rosen, Philadelphia, chaplain; and Dr. William Decherne, Philadelphia, surgeon.

Other new auxiliary officers are: Mrs. Mary Lambert, Johnstown, senior vice-president; Mrs. Agnes S. Holz, Philadelphia, junior vice-president; Mrs. Rita K. Brocht, New Kensington, chaplain; and Mrs. Mary Kay Duff, Knox, conductress.

Diligenti Quints Eight Years Old

Buenos Aires (AP) — It was an eighth birthday party, but there were 40 candles on the cake.

Celebrating were the Diligenti quintuplets — Franco Jr., Carlos Alberti, Maria Fernanda, Maria Cristina and Maria Esther.

The two brothers and three sisters romped the day away at their home while 200 guests drank to their health.

Servicemen Slow To Ask Absentee Vote

Harrisburg (AP) — Few servicemen are taking advantage of a special 1951 law giving them the right to cast an absentee ballot in the July 24 primary election.

The State Elections bureau reported that only 219 applications in the form of post cards had been received by the end of last week. Applications for absentee ballots by relatives or friends in behalf of the men in the service would swell the 219 total.

The only comment from the bureau on the disappointing number of soldier vote applications was that the requests were "comparatively light."

Unofficial estimates place the number of Keystone State servicemen at 200,000 at present.

The high mark of military ballots in World War Two was 260,000 for the 1944 presidential election. There were an estimated 1,000,000 Pennsylvanians in the armed forces.

The 1951 primary election date was advanced to July from the original September 11 date to accommodate the counting of servicemen's ballots.

Under the law, absentee ballots must be returned for count not later than 10 a.m. August 3. They must be postmarked not later than midnight of July 24.

In parts of Africa and also in Australia and elsewhere, it is a common tribal practice to remove one or more front teeth.

'Mystery Man' Seen In Kaesong

Munsan, Korea (AP) — A sportily dressed Chinese "mystery man" appeared in Kaesong yesterday. Many who saw him believe he is a civilian Communist newsman, the first reported in the city.

The helicopter pilots who flew the United Nations delegation to Kaesong said the man took pictures of their planes as fast as he could snap his Leica camera.

Lt. Ernest MacQuarrie of Los Angeles said the man was dressed in a gray gabardine suit, black shoes and a tailored trench coat. On his head was a golfing hat.

"He was the best dressed man I've seen in Korea," said Lt.
